NPSA seeks barrier manufacturers and innovators for test programme

ProtectUK publication date

11/11/2025

The NPSA is seeking manufacturers and innovators to be involved in a Vehicle Security Barriers (VSBs) test programme.

The National Protective Security Authority (NPSA) is exploring and encouraging further development of Hostile Vehicle Mitigation (HVM) solutions that reduce the risk of vehicle-borne attacks to the public.

NPSA has published a blog article explaining how manufacturers of security products can get involved.

Manufacturers are invited to submit an expression of interest in the funded Vehicle Security Barriers (VSBs) test programme.

More information can be found on the NPSA blog page: Expression of interest: Funded Vehicle Impact Testing for Street Furniture Products blog page.

NPSA encourages you to share this blog with industry peers who may find it relevant and beneficial.
