The National Counter Terrorism Security Office (NaCTSO) will be among more than 450 exhibitors at The Security Event, taking place at the NEC Birmingham from 28–30 April.

Billed as Europe's leading commercial, enterprise and domestic security exhibition, the event is expected to welcome over 17,500 security professionals for three action?packed days of pioneering innovation, expert insight and unrivalled networking opportunities.

Visitors can meet the NaCTSO team on stand F137 in Hall 5 to find out more about NaCTSO's work, the benefits of signing up to ProtectUK, and the range of training and engagement opportunities available.

SFJ Awards – stand partners

NaCTSO has partnered with SFJ Awards to offer the Ofqual Level 3 Award in Counter Terrorism Protective Security and Preparedness. This is the only qualification endorsed by NaCTSO and has been developed by education specialists working across policing and emergency response.

Members of the NaCTSO team will be available on the stand throughout the event, alongside representatives from SFJ Awards, who can also provide advice on wider training requirements in those fields.

We look forward to seeing you there. Visit the event website for more information and to register for a free visitor pass.
