Roadmap to improved security and preparedness

ProtectUK publication date
16/06/2026

This roadmap is a simple, practical guide to help you start thinking about counter terrorism security and preparedness

A roadmap for security

The roadmap is for everyone whether you run a business, manage a venue, or are responsible for people in any kind of organisation.

The roadmap is easy to follow and interactive. It takes you step-by-step through what to consider, helping you understand your vulnerabilities, consider any risk and take proportionate, reasonable steps to reduce risk and improve your counter terrorism security and response.

Clear and trusted advice

At each stage, you'll be guided to clear, trusted advice allowing you to begin improving your counter terrorism security and response.

Every organisation is different, so you can use the guidance in a way that works best for you. Even small changes can make a real difference in helping to protect people, places and everyday activities from terrorism and other threats.

This is your starting point, a way to begin building confidence and capability.
